NSTL readies for space shuttle testing

By ANITA DINWIDDIE

National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County is gearing up for the first test firing in late May of a new Space Shuttle Main Engine (SSME) developed by the Rocketdyne Division of Rockwell International for NASA. The engine which has been in the design stage since 1972 will be a continuing project at NSTL through the first space shuttle flights planned for 1979 - 80 and future development through 1984.

Two test stands at NSTL that were formerly used to test the Saturn V rockets have been modified at a cost of $8 million to accommodate testing of the new engines designed by Rocketdyne Division of Rockwell International Corporation. Modifications on the first test stand have been completed for the first tests next month and work is continuing on the second stand that will be used to test the main propulsion engine in 1977.

Officials of Rocketdyne Division said that approximately 60 people would be involved in the initial testing of the space shuttle engines, and a total of 170 would be involved in the program by 1977.

"Rocketdyne has brought its crew of engineers from the west coast to work on the project," said Paul Fuller, Rocketdyne Resident Manager at NSTL. "But most of the technicians will be local people. About 70 percent of the work force will be from this area."

Fuller said that the SSME rocket is designed to be reused on 55 missions unlike the Saturn rockets that were designed for only one mission. The engine burns liquid hydrogen and liquid oxygen and has a 470,000 pound thrust. It stands 14 feet tall and weighs about 3000 pounds.

The test stands at NSTL have been modified to contain two tanks holding 1,555,000 pounds of liquid oxygen and liquid hydrogen propellants. Initial tests on the shuttle engines in May will last only six tenths of a second, but the test stands will have the capacity to test the engines for six minute durations.

Eleven engines will be tested at NSTL during the development of the space shuttle program. The engines will be a part of the orbiter section of the Space Shuttle flight system. The orbiter is designed to carry into orbit a crew of seven and will remain in orbit for seven days. It has the capacity to return to the earth's orbit and land like an airplane and be readied for another flight in 14 days.

The primary mission for the space shuttle is the delivery of payloads to earth, but it also has the capacity to conduct other missions such as retrieving payloads from orbit, servicing satellites and operating space laboratories in orbit.

Rocketdyne develops reusable space orbiter system for NASA

Rocket test firings will resume at the National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County, Miss., late next month after a lapse of several years.

The first Space Shuttle Main Engine (SSME), a test version, has been installed in Test Stand A-1, which has just been activated following modifications.

Checkout of all systems and the Test Control Center is now underway in preparation for the first engine checkout test scheduled for late May.

The first engine is known as the Integrated Subsystem Test Bed (ISTB). It was completed March 25 by the Rocketdyne Division of Rockwell International Corp. about a month ahead of schedule and shipped by truck from the Canoga Park, Calif., plant to NSTL. Rocketdyne is prime contractor to the NASA-Marshall Space Flight Center for development of the SSME. The ISTB will be fired numerous times in the SSME test program.

Test Stand A-2 is now being modified, also to support single SSME testing. Stands A-1 and A-2 were used in the 1960s to test fire second (S-II) stages of the Saturn V launch vehicle.

Saturn V first (S-IC) stages were tested on a third stand nearby. That stand is now being modified for testing the Main Propulsion Test (MPT) article. This will consist of three SSMEs mounted on a Shuttle Orbiter "boattail" section which will be mounted next to an External Tank (ET), thus simulating the ET-Orbiter configuration. A series of tests will be conducted with the MPT article.

The SSME is the most advanced liquid fueled rocket engine ever built. It is designed for reuse up to 55 times between overhauls. Its nominal burn time is eight minutes with a lifetime of 7.5 hours.

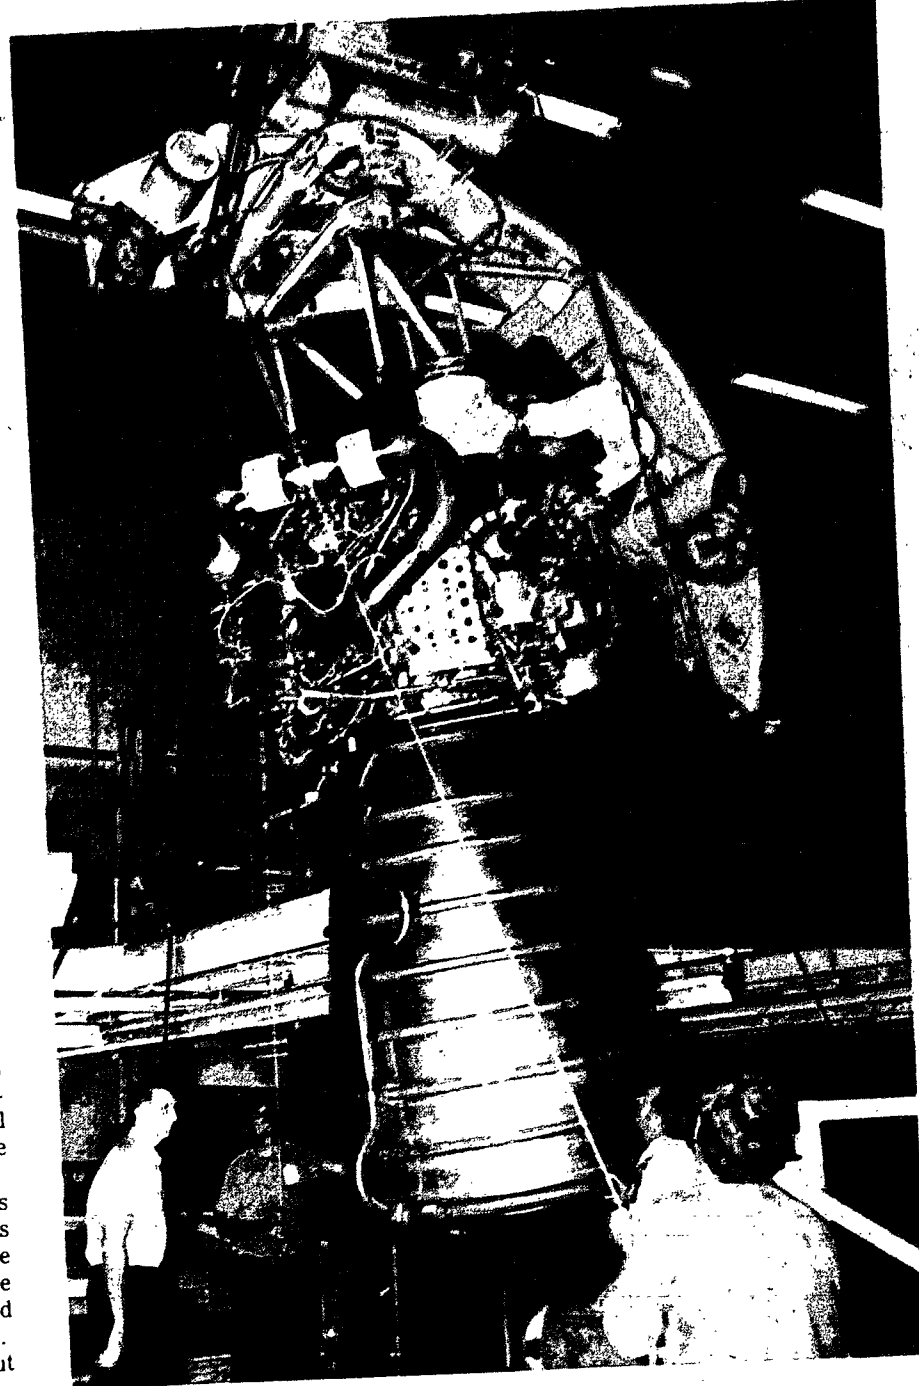

The SSME will burn liquid hydrogen and liquid oxygen and will produce up to 1,090,650 Newtons (470,000 pounds) thrust. It will operate at high pressure—about 3,000 psi chamber pressure at 100 percent thrust—with expansion through a high area ratio nozzle.

It is the first known rocket engine to use an electronic digital control system—known as "controller". The controller will accept vehicle commands for engine start, shutdown and thrust level. It will then provide the proper signals to the propellant valves to make the engine operate at the commanded condition.

Primary control is by closed-loop operation of two preburner oxidizer valves. Thrust control is accomplished by adjustment of the oxidizer preburner valve and mixture ratio control by the fuel preburner oxidizer valve.

The controller will monitor engine operation constantly and take corrective action automatically in the event of a failure. It also transmits engine operational data to the vehicle for storage and post-flight analysis.

Also, the controller and sensors will have a built-in redundancy for a fail-operational, fail-safe design, allowing the engine to continue to operate normally after failure of a single component and shut down safely if a second failure occurs.

6,870,000 horses

Workers for Rocketdyne, a division of Rockwell International, lift the 6,339 pound Space Shuttle Main Engine which is scheduled for its first test firing at the Hancock County National Space Technology Laboratories in late May. The engine which is fueled by liquid oxygen and hydrogen delivers 6,870,000 horsepower at full power. Rocketdyne is under contract with NASA to develop the main engine for the Space Shuttle-orbiter vehicle.

Three judge panel to decide Hancock school board suits

Hancock County School Board Attorney Joseph Cox said Friday he thought two suits challenging the election of members of the school board would be decided before the 30 day deadline set by Judge Harold Cox at a hearing in Biloxi April 9.

Both suits, the first against board member elect Oris Ladner and the second against four incumbent members of the board have been consolidated and will be heard by a three judge federal panel appointed by Judge John B. Reagan, chief justice of the U.S. District Court in Biloxi.

"I think that both parties involved in the suit are ready to present their cases," said Cox. "There should be some decision within the 30 day period."

Hearing the case will be U.S. District Judge William Harold Cox and U. S. District judge Walter Nixon, both of the Southern District of Mississippi, and 5th Circuit Judge Charles Clark of the Appellate Court in New Orleans.

Brown said that the three judge panel had been requested by Cox because the case invoked the 1965 Voting Rights Act and should be determined by a district court of three judges.

Both suits challenge the election of school board members because they were elected under a 1968 state election law changing the elections from beat to countywide which did not receive federal approval as required by the act.

Gex said that the present four members of the board, Monvel Cuevas, Tommy Shaw, Johnny Banks and Eric Larsen would not file briefs in the case, but would accept the decision on the first suit challenging the seat of Oris Ladner.

Ex-supervisor wins suit, announces plans

By DAN BARBER

Pearlington resident Harlan Dean said Wednesday he did intend to announce in the near future that he would be a candidate for the Hancock County Beat One Supervisor's seat, currently held by Jerry Ladner. But Dean took exception to newspaper articles recently which "implied" that he had filed suit to change countywide elections in Hancock County back to a beat system to further his own chances for reelection.

Coroner's race draws Banderet

Carl J. Banderet, 61, Rt. 3, Box 539, Bay St. Louis, has announced he will campaign for the office of Hancock County coroner in the August democratic primary.

Banderet has served as a deputy sheriff with the Hancock County Sheriff's Office for the past two years. Previously he spent 21 years in nursing service with the Veterans' Administration in Gulfport, Miss. and six years as funeral director of Lamana-Panno-Fallo funeral home in New Orleans, La.

He and his wife, Clifford Kimmel, have four daughters.

Dean was first elected to the Hancock Board of Supervisors in 1960 to serve the unexpired term of C. A. Russ, Sr. from Beat One. He was unopposed for a second full term of office, the only supervisor in the state that was without opposition that year, according to Dean.

In 1967 after federal redistricting Dean was defeated for a second full term of office by C. A. Russ, Jr. He was defeated again when he ran in August 1971, this time against incumbent Jerry Ladner.

"From all indications right now," Dean said Wednesday, "it looks like it will be me and Jerry Ladner again."

Dean said he was in no hurry to make any official announcement for the Beat One post.

"I want to make sure I can be a contender first," he said. "But I have been given more encouragement this time to run," he added, "than in any previous election I have entered."

A federal suit filed by Dean against the election of Hancock Supervisors at large was decided Tuesday April 22, with United States District Judge Harold Cox throwing Hancock County elections back into a beat system.

Cox's ruling stipulates that candidates reside within the respective beats which they seek to represent and that they be voted upon and elected by the vote of the electors of their respective districts.

Hancock Supervisors Monday indicated they did not plan to make any immediate appeal of Cox's ruling. However, the board in general indicated they thought the ruling would set Hancock County back in politics.

"Unfortunately," board president Dolph Kellar said, "it's not up to the supervisors what they prefer. This is a court matter."

"The only thing I have requested," Kellar added, "is that we get this thing decided one way or another and not continue with this thing hanging over our heads all the time."

Various citizens in the board room asked why public elections could not be called to get the people's opinion on the matter.

Board attorney Sam Farve said, however, the election would be nothing but a straw vote.

"Public opinion does not enter into these judges' decisions," Farve said. Farve added that the county had no authority to call an election either.

Farve said that the board had 30 days in which to file an appeal to the ruling, "but court dockets are crowded," Farve said, "and election this year will be over before you could get a hearing."

Supervisor Bully Zengarleng said he was sympathetic with public sentiment.

"Everybody should have the right to vote for every supervisor," Zengarleng said.

Jurisdictional question raised in suit

By DAVID PIERSON

Frank W. Alexander, Harrison County Chancellor, told attorneys for the Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission (MAWPCC) and Save the Bay, Inc. to submit legal briefs by Monday on the jurisdictional question raised by a MAWPCC demurrer.

Calling the jurisdictional question "a serious matter," Alexander said Friday that he would not listen to any arguments concerning the suit itself until the demurrer has been studied. The MAWPCC demurrer claims that the court does not have the jurisdiction to hear the Save the Bay suit.

Save the Bay, Inc. filed the suit asking that the chancery court overturn the MAWPCC permit granted to the DuPont Company on the grounds that the MAWPCC had prejudged the permit request in favor of DuPont.

The DuPont Company, the invisible third party in this matter, is planning to operate a $125 million titanium dioxide plant north of the Bay of St. Louis near DeLisle. The MAWPCC permit grants DuPont the right to discharge 2.1 million gallons of neutral salts daily into the Bay of St. Louis and to discharge its toxic wastes into a deep well.

Save the Bay attorney Robert Homes argued that he was not prepared to fight against the demurrer since he had not received any information on it from MAWPCC attorney Boyce Holleman. Holleman countered that Save the Bay was not supplied with any information because, "We don't think he's really entitled to it."

Holleman said that Save the Bay, Inc. did not exhaust its appeal procedure through MAWPCC administrative channels and therefore the group had no standing in court. Save the Bay, said Holleman, did not appeal to the state commission (MAWPCC) but went straight to the court.

Holleman then addressed himself to the jurisdictional question when he said, "They (Save the Bay) are trying to invoke the jurisdiction of the court. There is no provision of appeal for an interested party. Only when there is a resulting pollution can they appeal to the courts."

"The agency acted on a discretionary matter," said Holleman, "and now there is an attempt to sidestep and avert the actions of this commission."

The opportunity to appeal to the chancery court, Holleman said, was only to open to the permittee (in this case, DuPont). If the permittee believes that a permit denial is unfair, it could then invoke the courts.

Robert Homes then challenged Holleman's contention that only the permittee has a right to appeal to the courts. "If what Mr. Holleman says is right," said Homes, "then what we have is, in essence, unequal protection under the law, and that's unconstitutional. It seems to leave the public by the wayside."

Homes went on to say that Save the Bay could not appeal to the MAWPCC because the state agency had been uncooperative. The MAWPCC, Homes charged, had refused to give copies of the permit to Save the Bay, Inc. The Save the Bay attorney also cited examples of what he called "fraud" on the part of the MAWPCC. He said that the Dec. 30 public hearing was an in-driven by Arthur Grenner of Arabi, Louisiana.

Hancock school board plans to hire two special ed teachers

By ANITA DINWIDDIE

The Hancock County School Board voted Friday to hire two more teachers for the special education program at Hancock North Central.

Board chairman Monvel Cuevas said that the school is still awaiting the final results of tests conducted by the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center to determine what age groups the two new teachers will have. There are presently two special education classes at Hancock North Central for first through third and fourth through sixth grades.

"We know that we have enough children to hire two more teachers, and we are planning to build four new classrooms at Hancock North Central for the special education classes," said Cuevas.

The chairman said that the board had delayed the classroom construction pending a ruling on a federal suit which challenges the seats of all four members of the board because of alleged violations of the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

"We feel like we shouldn't go ahead with any of these projects until the suit is decided," said Cuevas. If the court rules that we don't have the authority, it will only hurt the children."

Superintendent K. G. McCarty reported that a mobile health unit would visit the coast during the year to aid the children of migrant workers in the county. McCarty said that the unit would conduct examinations for eye, ear and teeth problems for 155 migrant students in the school system. The program is entirely funded by the federal government.

McCarty also announced that the county had applied for a Title I Project in Career Education for next fall at Hancock North Central High School which would provide extracurricular training in vocational careers. The department of Health, Education and Welfare will make a decision on the $111,700 application May 9.

Body discovered in Ansley

The body of a middle aged white male was found in a shallow grave in Ansley Sunday evening by a Clermont Harbor resident hunting turkey.

Larry Peterson discovered the still unidentified body about 6:40 p.m. Sunday after investigating an area where he had spotted low flying turkey buzzards.

Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner said the body was found lying in a shallow grave with one hand and both feet sticking up. Coroner Emile Piazza said that the body had been dead approximately six weeks.

An autopsy conducted by Dr. John S. Basone in Gulfport revealed that the man had been shot four times with a 32 caliber revolver, 3 times in the head and once in the left side near the heart.

Sheriff Ladner and Deputy James Ladner said that the man was fully clothed except for his shoes. He was wearing brown pants, a tee shirt, a green sweater and blue sock. Sheriff Ladner said the man appeared to be about 40 or 50 years old, five feet 11 inches to six feet in height, and weighing approximately 160 to 170 pounds.

The man had several tattoos on his arms including a clear hooded panther on the upper right arm, a peacock on the upper left arm and a bouquet of flowers with the word mother on the left forearm. The only identification found on the body was a key with the number 4248.

"We believe it must be someone from an adjoining county or state," said Sheriff Ladner, "because there have not been any reports of missing persons in Hancock County."

A coroner's jury was assembled on the scene by Justice of the Peace Lee Klein. Jurors Larry Peterson, Terrel Ladner, Michael Earl Cox, Clyde Hester, Jimmy Ladner and Sylvan Ladner agreed to hold the verdict open pending investigation. James Ladner acted as bailiff. The body was removed to Riemann-Fahey funeral home.

Courthouse observes holiday

The Hancock County Courthouse will be closed Monday, April 28 in observance of Confederate Memorial Day.

Ladner breaks silence, enters sheriff's race

State Representative Earl "Buck" Ladner qualified Monday for the Hancock County Sheriff's race in the August Democratic primary, thus ending rumors that he would indeed seek incumbent Sheriff Sylvan Ladner's seat in the upcoming elections. Appearing before the Hancock County Board of Supervisors Monday, Ladner said he had enjoyed his tenure of office as state representative but did not intend to seek reelection.

Ladner became the youngest lawmaker in the state chamber when he was elected from Hancock County in 1972. Prior to that he served one term as a justice of the peace from Beat Four.

Ladner told the Echo Monday that it had always been his intention to run for the office of sheriff in Hancock County some day.

"My interest has always been in law enforcement," Ladner said. Ladner served with the Hancock Sheriff's Office in 1966-67 under present Sheriff Sylvan Ladner and also in 1968-69 Sheriff Fred Curet.

Ladner said he would run his campaign on a platform of professional law enforcement and would avoid getting involved in personalities.

Quarterly reports due April 30

JACKSON - Although the 1974 income tax filing season has ended for most individuals, an important tax deadline is approaching for employers, an IRS spokesman said today.

April 30, 1975, is the last day for employers to report and pay both Social Security and withheld income taxes for the first quarter of 1975.

However, they have until May 10, 1975, to file their returns if they have deposited the entire quarterly tax liability on time in a Federal Reserve bank or authorized commercial bank.

Employers should use the pre-addressed Form 941 mailed them by the IRS to report these taxes.

For more information see Publication 15, "Circular E—Employer's Tax Guide." It's available free by writing your IRS district office or by calling the IRS toll-free at 1-800-222-8070.

Mrs. Carver honored for outstanding service

Mrs. Lillian D. Carver, operator of the Hancock Courthouse concession stand for the last 29 years, was presented the Homer Brewer Memorial Award for Outstanding Service at the annual conference of Business Enterprise Operators April 19 in Jackson.

The award is presented annually to the stand operator selected by their peers as exemplifying the highest standards of quality service. Named for the late Homer Brewer, a long time stand operator, the award is the highest accolade given by the Stand Operators' Association.

The Business Enterprise Program of Vocational Rehabilitation for the Blind places legally blind or totally blind persons in small businesses which they operate as their own.

Mrs. Carver has operated the concession stand in the Hancock County Courthouse since 1946. She is a native of Hancock County and has lived all of her life in Mississippi and Louisiana.

McLeod Park readies transfer

McLeod Memorial Park, a recreation project of the Pearl River Basin Development District in central Hancock County, will be officially transferred from the Federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation to the state of Mississippi in ceremonies Friday, May 9 at the park.

Governor Bill Waller will accept the deed of transfer at a President's Legacy of Park's ceremony for the state, and will address the state and local officials who will be present for the transfer.

The program, will also include Robert Baker, regional Director of the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation in Atlanta who will present the deed to the Governor. Music and a free catfish lunch will be among the featured festivities.

The park, formerly known as the Bosworth Estates, is being renamed in honor of Albert and Virginia McLeod, a pioneer Hancock County family. Albert McLeod was a pioneer timberman who came to Hancock County in the early 1900's from South Carolina. He established a large sawmill, stove mill, planer mill, turpentine plant and a general mercantile store in the area. At one time he had over 500 employees in the Jourdan River area.

The development of the park will be directed by the Pearl River Basin Development District. An application for Phase one development in the amount of $254,000 has already been submitted to the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation. Phase II and Phase III developments will total over $1,000,000.

The property is located within the buffer zone of the National Space Technology laboratories and Basin District officials emphasized that all buffer zone building restrictions would be strictly adhered to in the development of the recreation facility.

Chamber joins Area 5 promotion project

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce voted Tuesday to join other communities in the Area 5 Tourist Council in constructing a permanent portable display booth promoting the Mississippi Gulf Coast to be used in travel exhibits at conventions.

The booth will be financed mainly by the larger communities such as Gulfport and Biloxi but will contain displays from all coast communities. Hancock County will contribute a minimum of $30 to the project or five percent of the matching funds received from the state Agricultural and Industrial Board for the project. The booth will probably be displayed at the Discover America Travel Organization convention at the Rivergate in New Orleans May 27-31.

Chamber president Perry Gibson reported that the Positive Economic Program committee is planning a new home extravaganza May 31-June 14 to promote home building on the coast. The PEP committee is jointly sponsoring the program with the Gulf Coast Builders Association.

Gibson suggested that Hancock County's Community Bargain Days be held during the same period and be coordinated with the program.

"I think that holding the Community Bargain Days at the same time would give our local merchants a chance to benefit from this promotion."

Overeaters Anon organize on coast

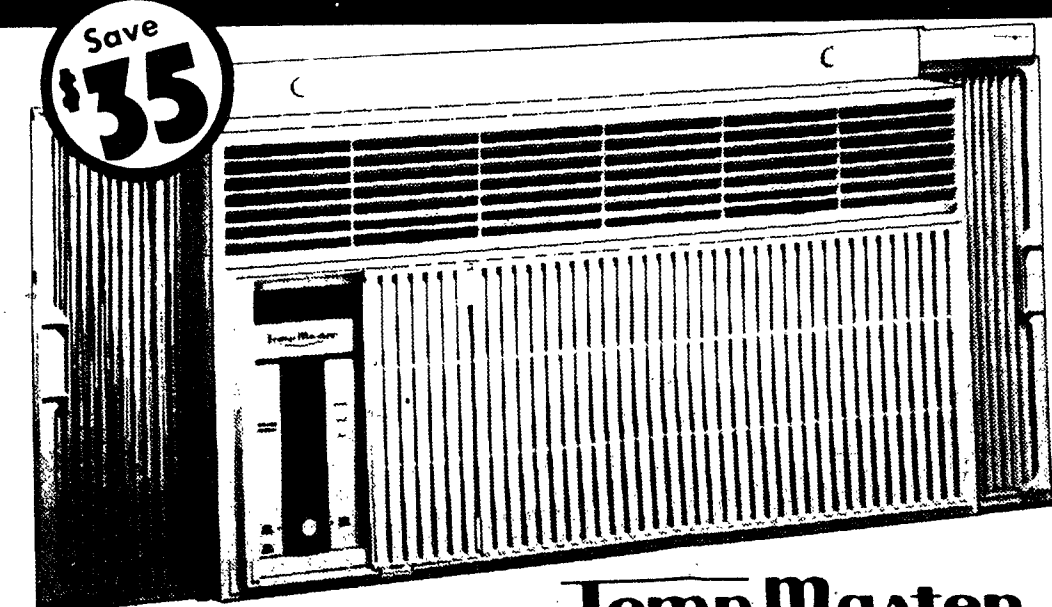

An Overeaters Anonymous Chapter is being organized on the Gulf Coast.

Meetings are being held each Tuesday evening at seven and Saturday afternoon at one in Building 2B, U. S. Seabee Center. The meeting are open to the public.

Poster campaign aimed at vandals

An expanded public awareness program designed to curb vandalism before summer vacations begin has been announced by Mississippi Coast Crime Commission Director Earl Riley.

Riley said that 5,000 posters would be distributed at schools, businesses, construction sites, and public buildings warning that vandalism is a serious crime.

"Vandalism is not kid's stuff," Riley warned. In the three coastal counties of Hancock, Harrison and Jackson alone, Riley said, vandalism cost private and public business $250,000 in 1974.

"We want to zero in on this problem before our kids begin getting out of school for their summer vacations,"

Riley said. "It's extremely important that we get across the message that vandalism is not mischief," the director added.

The crime commission expanded its TIP (Turn in a Pusher) telephone crime line last December to include citizen reports of vandalism.

Water hyacinth program doing well

Bay St. Louis Utilities Commissioner Lucien Kidd reported to the Bay city council Monday that tests conducted at the city's oxidation pond show that the city's experimental water hyacinth project is successfully removing impurities to a level far below the tolerance level specified by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Kidd said that NSTL, biochemist B. C. Wolverton, who first developed a system for removing water impurities by planting and harvesting water hyacinth, had conducted three tests last week which showed water in the experimental section of the Bay St. Louis oxidation pond consistently below the tolerance level.

Commissioner Kidd has allowed NSTL to experiment in a section of the Bay St. Louis oxidation pond in the hopes that the water hyacinth system may provide the tertiary treatment facility that is required by EPA by 1985. The first harvest of the experimental water hyacinth crop is scheduled for June.

"The results are just fantastic, unbelievable," Kidd told council members. "The hyacinth are doing everything we thought they would."

Kidd said he is planning to visit the Director of Research and Development in Atlanta, Edmund T. Lomasney, April 30 to discuss the possibility of EPA grants to maintain a water hyacinth system if its experimental project proves successful. Accompanying Kidd will be Biff Burk and Doug Miller, of Burk and Associates, city engineers, and either Bill Montgomery or Bob Barlow from NSTL.

In other business the council donated $15 to the American Legion Auxiliary for sponsorship of a girl at Girl's State. The auxiliary had requested full funding for one girl which would amount to $75.

"We have been severely criticized for not giving more money to some of these causes," said Mayor Warren Carver. "But we can't give away money that we just don't have. We will have to stay with the regular donation of $15 for these requests."

A second request for $100 for bookshelves for the new city county library was presented by Mrs. Jo Pilet of the Hancock County Bicentennial committee. The council voted to give the committee the full request.

The council voted to begin repairs on the tennis courts on Washington St. at an estimated cost of $800 and to advertise for bids for a gas chamber for the dog pound and for termite proofing of the garden center.

Stennis voices support of revised farm bill

WASHINGTON, D. C. - Senator John C. Stennis has urged quick passage of the Conference Report on the Farm Bill to give "a degree of stability" to the economically hard pressed agriculture industry.

Voicing to establish target prices and loan levels, Stennis said farmers unlike other businessmen, cannot set a price for their products. "He must take what the market will give him," Stennis continued, "and that market price can and does fluctuate greatly, often from causes that occur elsewhere in the world."

"Without realistic floor prices based on current production costs, the farmer has no way to effectively plan what crops to plant or how much. All he (the farmer) can do," Stennis said, "is look at the current prices in the commodity market and guess at what they may be when he harvests." Referring to risks of bad weather in addition to price fluctuations which cause losses, Stennis also said, "If he guesses wrong two years in a row he is very apt to be out of business."

Stennis pointed out that some provisions he favored in the Senate-passed bill "have been reduced or dropped in conference" but that "if we must give up part of what we consider necessary in order to get a timely bill, and one that will encourage Presidential approval and prompt signature, then it is prudent to accept these changes and I urge that the Senate accept them."

Amid speculation of a Presidential veto, Stennis directed his remarks to President Ford as he contended "there is essentially no difference in principle between this bill and the Agriculture Act of 1973 which received enthusiastic support from the Administration at the time it was proposed and passed."

Legal question raised

convenient date to elicit public response, and the state agency, he said, did not gather enough evidence to render a decision. Homes concluded by saying that Save the Bay had no recourse but to appeal to the courts.

Holleman countered by saying that Save the Bay did not apply for any documents, and this was the reason there were no records available at the hearing. "Since nothing was applied for," said Holleman, "there is no record. Since there is no record, there is no jurisdiction in this matter."

Throughout his presentation, Holleman reiterated his main contention: "What is at question here is an appeal on the issuance of a permit. The question is not pollution. That distinction is necessary. The permit is not an order, but merely a license to operate equipment which may or may not cause pollution. Only when there is a resulting pollution can an interested party appeal to the courts."

Alexander gave no indication when he would make his decision on the matter known, but both sides appeared optimistic after the hearing.

Save the Bay, Inc. also has another court suit pending in the U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals. That suit charges that the EPA was negligent in its duties when it delegated its authority on the DuPont permit to the MAWPCC.

Ole Miss gains journalism accreditation

UNIVERSITY, Miss. - The major phase of the University of Mississippi's Journalism Department has been accredited by the American Council of Education for Journalism, making Ole Miss the only college or university in Alabama, Arkansas, and Mississippi with an accredited news-editorial sequence.

A special team visited Ole Miss last fall to evaluate quality of classroom and laboratory instruction and counseling service, quality of faculty, unit library and equipment, quality of students and the unit's graduates, and quality of relations with media and professionals.

'Accreditation confirms what we have known all along -- that Ole Miss has a solid program which can stand up well under a rigorous examination by a team of outside professionals in journalism," said Chancellor Porter L. Fortune.

Benefits of ACEJ accreditation include automatic qualification for participation in the Hearst Writing Contests, American Newspaper Minority Scholarship competition and Magazine Publishers Association internship competition, as well as other competitions.

In addition, some prominent scholarships are restricted to accredited colleges and universities; several newspapers provide scholarships to departments with accredited sequences.

Current plans call for the Department to move from Brady Hall to more spacious quarters within the next two years. Dr. Ronald Farrar, department chairman at Ole Miss, said he hopes to add sequences in advertising and public relations, and in broadcast journalism to the department's program in the near future.

Mississippi products become foreign delights

Mississippi's agricultural products can take you to dinner around the world! The following African and Italian dishes would be impossibilities without Mississippi's agricultural products:

African Dessert: BOLO POLANA (Cashew-Nut and Potato Cake)

9 egg yolks
4 egg whites
3 med. sized boiling potatoes
3 sticks butter
2 tsp. flour
2 c. sugar
2 c. roasted unsalted cashews, chopped
2 tsp. lemon peel
2 tsp. orange peel
Boil chopped potatoes and mash. Set aside to cool.
Grease and flour a 9" square pan. Cream the sticks of butter and sugar. Beat in the potatoes, cashew nuts, lemon peel and orange peel. Add egg yolks, one at a time, beating after each addition. Beat the egg white until stiff. Stir a heaping tablespoon of whites into the potato mixture. Then spoon the remaining egg whites into the mixture and fold together gently. Pour the batter into the springform pan, spreading and smoothing the top with a spatula. Bake in pre-heated 350 degree F. oven for about one hour and 15 minutes, or until the top is brown and a toothpick, inserted into the center of the cake comes out clean. Let the cake cool for 15 minutes, then remove the sides of the pan. With the help of a large metal spatula, slide the cake off the base onto a wire rack. Let cool to room temperature before serving. Top with whipped cream if desired.

ITALIAN PIZZA

Crust:
2 cakes compressed yeast
2 c. warm water
2 tsp. salad oil
1 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. salt
5 c. flour
Sauce:
2 (8 oz.) cans tomato sauce
1 (6 oz.) can tomato paste
1 clove garlic, minced
2 green peppers, blanched and cut up
1 tsp. olive oil
1/2 tsp. oregano
1 tsp. sugar
Pinch of cayenne

Topping:
1 lb. sliced Mozarella or Scamorze Cheese
Oregano
Use 1 or a combination of the following: Cooked pork sausage, cooked ground beef, cooked Italian sausage, anchovies, olives, sauteed mushrooms Dissolve yeast in water. Add oil, sugar, salt and approximately four cups flour. Sprinkle remaining flour onto dough board. Turn dough onto board and knead until dough no longer sticks to surface. Put into oiled bowl and turn so entire surface is oiled. Cover with a clean towel and let rise in warm place until doubled. Punch down. Work into four balls about the size of small grapefruit. Let stand 10 minutes. Meanwhile, mix all ingredients for sauce. Pat and stretch dough into oiled pizza pans. Or use baking sheets, patting into 11 to 12 inch circles and turn up edges for rim. Rub with olive oil and spread sauce. Top with choice of toppings. Sprinkle with oregano. Bake at 450 degrees F. about 15 minutes, or until crust is brown and filling is bubbly hot. Serve at once. Makes four 10 inch pizzas.

Orchestra features Israeli pianist

Israeli-American pianist Menahem Pressler will be soloist with the New Orleans Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra Tuesday and Wednesday, April 22 and 23, in the New Orleans Theatre of the Performing Arts.

Werner Torkanowsky will conduct the concerts which begin at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday and 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Pressler will perform Piano Concerto No. 4 by Beethoven. Maestro Torkanowsky has also programmed the Overture to "Der Freischutz" by Carl Maria von Weber, the "Black Maskers" Suite by American composer Roger Sessions, and five Slavonic Dances by Antonin Dvorak.

Menahem Pressler was born in Germany but fled with his family to Israel when Hitler came into power. He began his professional career in the United States, his adopted country, when he was seventeen. On his first American tour, he was soloist five times with the Philadelphia Orchestra and was awarded an unprecedented contract with that orchestra for several appearances in each of three seasons.

Pressler has also performed with such orchestras as the New York Philharmonic, the Cleveland Orchestra, the National Symphony and the Royal Philharmonic. He resides in Bloomington, Indiana, where he is a full professor on the music faculty of Indiana University.

Tickets for the April 22 and 23 New Orleans Symphony concerts are on sale at Werlein's Box Office, 605 Canal Street, and at the Symphony office, 203 Carondelet Street. Telephone reservations may be made by calling the Symphony at 524-0404, and any remaining tickets will go on sale at the New Orleans Theatre of the Performing Arts box office one hour before each performance.

ETV examines plight of homeless animals

The plight of Mississippi's one million homeless animals will be examined on a special "F.Y.I." (For Your Information) program at 8 p.m. tonight on ETV.

"Mississippi's Homeless Animals," which will repeat at 6:30 p.m., Friday, April 25, can be seen over the Mississippi Educational Television Network channels 19, Biloxi.

Interviews with individuals involved in humane projects throughout the state and visits to several animal shelters in Mississippi are included in the half-hour program.

The importance of birth control in animals is emphasized in the program due to the staggering number of stray puppies and kittens born each year.

"I am appalled at the number of stray dogs roaming neighborhoods with no home or hope for a home," said producer Mike Seymour. "The rapid climb in the dog population, and the overpopulation of dogs and cats in pounds and rescue centers convinced me that someone needed to be enlightened about the hazards of overpopulation, the danger it represents when animals are allowed to roam free, many times attacking children, adults and livestock, without provocation."

Other programs produced by Mississippi ETV this week include ethnic and racial stereotyping, the metric system, the chairman of the Federal Communications Commission and the Battle of Corinth.

"Faces," Mississippi ETV's monthly series about various minority groups in the state, focuses this month on stereotyping. Following a dramatization of black-white stereotyping, a panel composed of members of several ethnic groups will discuss where stereotyping originates and how it affects people. "Faces" can be seen at 7:30 p.m., tonight and at 6:30 p.m., Saturday, April 26.

The third program in the four-part mini-series of "The Metric System" can be seen at 6:30 p.m., tonight. The miniseries, designed to acquaint adult viewers with the metric system, is called "Go Metric, Mississippi" and is a half-hour comedy, music, drama and discussion, all about the metric system.

Richard Wiley, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, will be interviewed on Mississippi ETV's "A Conversation With..." at 7:30 p.m., Monday, April 28. Wiley will discuss violence on television, children's programming and government regulations.

"The Way the Wind Was Blowing," Mississippi ETV's documentary recalling the Civil War battle at Corinth, Miss., will be rebroadcast as part of the "Camera South"

Following a full week of rain, the local high school nines put in a full week's activity with 13 games being played. Tommy McKay of Long Beach lost the leadership in the pitching department, but he quickly made up for that loss by gaining the leadership in hitting. Vernon Powell and Niles Blaize of Bay High and Mark Jenkins of Pass High are also batting .400 or above.

Myron Cook of Pass High moved slightly ahead of McKay in pitching with an earned run average of 1.48 per game, but McKay still holds the best won-lost record in the area.

Stanislaus edges Pass High in meet

By DAVID PIERSON

Echo Sports Editor

A dropped baton in the 880 relay contributed to Pass High's 59-58 loss to Stanislaus at the nine-team Pascagoula River Conference Track and Field Meet held last Wednesday at the Rock-a-Chaw Stadium.

Pass High was leading in the team scores and was also leading in the 880 relay when Paul Joseph and Able Page missed on a baton handoff. The missed handoff eliminated Pass High from an event it was favored to win and deprived them of the necessary points to win the team trophy.

Stanislaus' outstanding senior distance runner, Jim Schott, shattered the meet record in the 880 yard run with a time of 2:01.9 minutes, which eclipses the old record by more than seven seconds. Schott's effort put Stanislaus into the lead 51-50, and his subsequent first place finish in the mile run extended that lead over Pass High to 55-52 with only the mile relay left.

Pass High was favored to win the final event of the meet, but Stanislaus only needed a second-place finish to claim the team trophy.

The Pass High relay team lived up to expectations this time by quickly jumping out to a large lead and then extending it to 80 feet midway through the race, but the Stanislaus cindermen held a solid grip on second place, 20 feet ahead of third-place St. Martin. Midway through the third leg of the race, Stanislaus' lead began to diminish as St. Martin's third and fourth runners continued to narrow the gap. But Stanislaus held off the challenge to claim second place by eight feet over St. Martin.

The Stanislaus victory ended four years of frustration for Stanislaus which had finished in second place the last four years in conference competition. Vancleave was a distant third in the boys' competition with a total of 29½. St. Martin finished with 29; Notre Dame, 22; d'Iberville, 21½; East Central, 15; Hancock North Central, four; and St. John's two.

In the girls' competition, Pass High defeated East Central 47-35 with St. Martin finishing third with a total of 21. Vancleave scored 20; d'Iberville, 19; and Hancock North Central and St. John's each totalled two.

Besides the drama of the school competition, several individual and a relay team record were broken with Schott's new 880 record standing good chances of lasting for a long time. Pass High's relay team also set a new conference standard with a time of 44.5 seconds in the 440 relay. Thomas Boyd, also of Pass High, set a new 440 mark with a time of 52.1. Sandra Riley, who achieved three individual first place finishes for East Central, set a new meet record for the 100 yard dash with a time of 11.7 seconds.

Rhodes claims first place at Games

By DAVID PIERSON

Bay St. Louis' native son, Joseph (Doc) Rhodes, won first place honors in the 148-pound powerlifting class Saturday at the Pan-American Games in San Juan, Puerto Rico. Although Rhodes, who was representing the United States, won the first place distinction, he was disappointed at not having achieved as high a total as he wanted.

Rhodes had been training to break the world record of 1,425 pounds, but he finished with a total of 1,365 pounds lifted, which is 25 pounds lower than what he lifted at the Mississippi State Powerlifting Championships in Bay St. Louis in March.

"I'm a little disappointed at not getting a higher total," Rhodes said Monday, "but under the circumstances, I guess I'm satisfied."

In fact, most of the lifters at the meet were disappointed with their lifts and attributed their performances to the high humidity in Puerto Rico.

"Really," said Rhodes, "we all needed a week in advance to get acclimated to the humidity. Personally, I felt drained at the meet." The United States team arrived in Puerto Rico on Friday and competed the following day.

Rhodes made good on seven of his nine lifts with totals of 455 pounds in the squat, 330 pounds in the bench press, and 580 pounds in the dead lift. His closest competitor was an Argentine lifter who totalled 1,300 pounds.

Stafford homers down Rocks, 10-4

By EDWARD FAVRE

Rick Stafford slammed a three-run homer in the fifth inning and added a second home run in the following inning to guide the d'Iberville Warriors to a 10-4 Pascagoula River Conference victory Thursday over the St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws.

The game was tied 4-4 in the bottom of the fifth when the Warriors erupted for five big runs. Randy Redmond led off the inning with a single, and Butch Husley walked. Rick Stafford followed with his first homer of the afternoon to give the Warriors a 7-4 lead. Mike Lee later doubled in the inning to drive in two more runs.

Lee went all the way on the mound for d'Iberville striking out six, walking five and allowing five hits. Dan Ford started on the mound for Stanislaus and was relieved in the fourth inning by Mike Favre who was charged with the loss. Ford struck out two, walked two, and gave up four hits while Favre struck out two, walked one, and yielded six hits including both of Stafford's homers.

Cook slams Tomcats, 7-4

By DAVID PIERSON

The Pass High Pirates trailed the undefeated district leaders Stone County 4-3 late in the sixth inning. Two Pirate runners were on base, and the home crowd was shouting, sensing that this was the Pirates' last real chance. In fact, everyone was shouting - the fans, the players, the coaches - everyone except Myron Cook who knelt in the on-deck circle, intently studying Stone's pitcher Ricky Spring who at one stretch had struck out five men in a row. But this time Spring served up a base on balls to pinch hitter Ronnie Sizemore to load the bases, and into the batter's box stepped Cook.

He was still studying Stone's pitcher and appeared unaware of the coaches, his teammates, and the fans who were all shouting at him to get a hit.

The first pitch was high and outside.

With a loud crack of the bat, Cook jumped on the next pitch, and everyone knew instantaneously that the ball was gone. It soared high over the left-center field fence, and now the delirious Cook was shouting along with the crowd. He danced around the bases, wildly waving his hands in the air.

The Pirates won the game 7-4 to tie Stone for first place in District 8-A.

The first inning should have served notice to Stone County fans that it was not to be their day. The first two Tomcat hitters were robbed of line drive hits by circus catches by the centerfielder and second baseman.

Even after Stone jumped out to a 3-0 lead on a couple of unearned runs and a solo homerun off the bat of Red Stringfellow, the Pirates came back to tie with three unearned runs of their own.

The Pirates appeared beaten in the sixth when Stone scored still another unearned run in the tense game. Then in the bottom of the sixth Jack Ulrich and Henry Malley singled to put men on first and second for the Pirates, but Spring retired the next two batters on infield outs.

Sizemore walked, and that set the stage for Cook's blow.

Cook had started the game for the Pirates but pitched only 4 1/3 innings as he allowed six hits and three walks and three runs. He struck out four batters. Henry Malley came in to relieve Cook and pitched no-hit ball the rest of the way, giving up one unearned run, and two walks and a strikeout. He was credited with the win.

Spring pitched all seven innings for the Stone Tomcats, giving up six hits and four earned runs. He struck out seven and walked three and was charged with the loss.

Pass High committed five errors to Stone's three. The Pirates left four men on base, and Stone stranded eight.

The game raised Pass High's record to 6-5 overall and 3-1 in district play. Stone (10-1) is also 3-1 in district play.

The Sea Coast Echo Player of the Week

Mark Jenkins of the Pass High Pirates raised his batting average to .400 by hitting at a hefty .667 clip for the week. During the past week, he drove in three runs and scored two more in the all-important District 8-A games.

Mark is the Pirates' catcher and is considered the team leader on the field. Usually batting in the cleanup slot, he is not only known for his hitting but also for his solid defensive play. His strong arm and quick release keeps base runners honest.

Bearcats down St. Martin, 4-1

The Long Beach netters downed St. Martin 4-1 in tennis action last Wednesday afternoon at the Gulf Park campus courts in Long Beach.

Don Gaddy led the way for the Bearcats with a 6-2, 6-3 win over St. Martin's Jim Cantrelle in the boys' singles match. Ingrid Perry of Long Beach beat Karen Karcher in the girls' singles match 6-2, 6-0.

In doubles play, St. Martin's team of Barbara Ryan and Liz Aufdemorte moved past Martha Loftus and Becky Taylor 6-3, 6-2. Maria Daurio and Lee Lott bested St. Martin's Shari Wronko and Wes McDermott in the mixed doubles match 6-3, 6-1. In the closest match of the day, Frank Costello and Nick Nazeritan squeezed past St. Martin team of Brady Tucker and Darrell Moore 7-6, 7-6.

Stone wins with Pirate miscues

The Pass High Pirates put the boot back into baseball last Wednesday when they committed eight errors in their 6-3 loss to the Stone County Tomcats in District 8-A action in Wiggins. The game was an oddity since Stone scored all six of its runs with the benefit of just two hits. In fact, the 12 errors in the game accounted for most of the offense for both sides.

The Tomcats scored four unearned runs in the fourth inning, using a hit batsman, two fielder's choices, and four errors to take a 4-0 lead.

The Pirates cut the lead to 4-3 in the fifth inning when Ronnie Sizemore walked and Myron Cook singled. Parker Duplessis reached safely on a wild throw from the shortstop that scored Sizemore, and Paul Stewart followed with a single that scored both Cook and Duplessis.

Stone scored two more runs in the bottom of the fifth inning when Davis poked a two-run homer that scored an unearned run in front of him. Stone County's ace, Paul Riels, got the win for the Tomcats. He struck out 16 and passed four. Hard-luck Donnie Bentz was charged with his third loss of the season. Bentz fanned three batters allowed just two hits, but the poor defense behind him was more than what the Tomcats needed.

Long Beach sinks Vikings, 12-4

The Long Beach Bearcats exploded for 12 runs and 13 hits, including a five-run outburst in the top of the seventh inning, to sink the Gulfport East Vikings 12-4 in District 8-AA action Saturday.

Tommy McKay went the route for the Bearcats and also led the Long Beach offense with three hits and two RBIs. East's Glen Dewease pitched seven innings and gave up all 12 of the Bearcat runs.

Long Beach was leading 7-4 when they erupted for five runs to clinch the game in the seventh inning.

Quarter horse show planned

A quarter horse show based on AQHA rules will be sponsored by the Diamondhead School Bus Association 9 a.m. May 4 at Hancock County Fairgrounds.

Bentz hits, pitches Pirates to win

Donnie Bentz broke open a close game with a two-run homer in the bottom of the sixth inning to help the Pass High Pirates to an 8-4 district 8-AA win Saturday at Pass Christian.

Bentz, who also went all the way on the mound for the Pirates, was credited with the win as he walked three and whiffed four. Ted Long was the losing pitcher for the Hornets, pitching five innings, walking three and fanning four. Greg Owenby came in to relieve Long in the sixth and gave up the home run to Bentz.

The Hornets briefly took the lead in the top of the third inning when D. Nelson smashed a two-run home run over the leftfield fence, but the Pirates countered with two runs to again take the lead when Jack Ulrich supplied a double with two men in scoring position.

Local netters favored

Four doubles teams and two singles players from the area have earned the distinction as the top seeded in their division at the District 8 tennis tournament scheduled for this Friday at Hiller Park in Gulfport.

Don Gaddy of Long Beach will be on the top rung of the Class A-AA boys' singles bracket, and the Stanislaus boys' doubles team of Tom Piland and Bayne Dickinson is also top seeded in Class A-AA. Bay High's Chris Stieffel and Sharon Kidd will occupy the available top slot in the girls' doubles bracket.

In Class B-BB play, Perry and Paul Clinkscales of Coast Episcopal will be the top boys' doubles seed, and the unbeaten OLA girls' doubles team of Susan Benvenuti and Tricia Dickinson are favored to win in their division. Lis boys' doubles match 6-4, 5-7, 6-3.

In the boys' singles match, Mark Stipulskoski dropped Jamie Hans in two sets 6-2, 6-0, and the SSC-OLA team of Susie Tabor and Bob Warner easily disposed of the Coast Episcopal's Theron Furr and Regina Castelin 6-1, 6-0.

St. Stanislaus-OLA won all five B-team matches with the closest contest coming in the boys' singles match where Frank Sagnibene defeated Donald Coffey 6-3, 6-4.

Stanislaus sweeps Episcopal netters

The St. Stanislaus-OLA tennis team swept past Coast Episcopal last Wednesday afternoon in Bay St. Louis to keep their unbeaten record intact. But the 5-0 sweep of the A-team matches was deceptive because Coast Episcopal had solid chances of winning three of the matches.

In the premiere match of the day, OLA freshman Lis Lagarde set down sophomore Anne Johnson in straight sets 6-2, 6-3. It was the second meeting of the year between the two baseline players who battled each other in a two and one-half match recently in the Coast Invitational Tennis Tournament which Anne Johnson went on to win.

OLA's doubles team of Tricia Dickinson and Susan Benvenuti survived a stiff challenge from the team of Holly Vegas and Katherine Johnson and won 6-1, 4-6, 7-6. The Benvenuti-Dickinson team, last year's state champions and winners this year of the Coast Invitational girls' doubles trophy, are the only unbeaten on the Coast.

Tom Piland and Bayne Dickinson nipped Perry and Paul Clinkscales in a 31-game

Fourth time

Visiting the Oak Downs winners' circle for the fourth straight time is Van Fol Mike, who captured the 300-yard feature race Sunday. Members of the James Watson family celebrating the victory include Judy and James Watson and their two daughters.

Jeanine (left) and Jannie. Van Fol Mike has won five of his six starts at the Pearl River oval this season and Joey Schwankhart, the track's leading jockey, has been aboard each time.

Van Fol Mike wins fourth straight at Oak Downs

(Special to The Sea Coast Echo)
PEARL RIVER, La. — One of the top horses at Oak Downs is getting tougher and tougher to beat — even when he gets a bad break.

Van Fol Mike, owned and trained by James Watson of Bay St. Louis, won his fourth straight race here Sunday and had to come from behind after breaking third in the 300-yard feature contest.

Mike caught up with Perry's Gem and Senor Bandito on the track made heavy by afternoon rains and was pulling away at the finish line.

The winner was timed in the Class AA time of 16.155 seconds, despite the "off" track conditions.

Other winners were Senor Bandito (16.25), and Perry's Gem (16.25). For the Watson-owned horse, it was his fifth win in six starts this season at Oak Downs. One of the steadiest campaigners here, Mike has hit the card five times by recording two AA times and three A clockings.

Senor Bandito, one of the horses he beat Sunday, is the only one that has claimed victory over Mike. That came on March 2 when both horses ran a AA time on a sloppy track. Since then, Mike has twice beaten Senor Bandito.

In all six races Mike has run this year at Oak Downs, the track's leading jockey, Joey Schwankhart, has been in the irons.

Here's a recap of the five-year-old Mike's performances this year:

Feb. 23, 400 yards, first, 22.73 seconds.

March 2, 250 yards, second, 13.79, Class AA.

March 9, 350 yards, first, 18.82, Class A.

March 23, 400 yards, first, 21.26, Class A.

April 6, 300 yards, first, 16.22, Class A.

April 20, 300 yards, first, 16.155, Class AA.

One of the highlights of Sunday's 14-race program came in the 220-yard sixth race as all five horses broke the meet record for that distance.

South Dallas, owned by Walter Brazell and trained by Roger Johnson, topped the field with thrilling nose victory over Chuck Johnson's Tammy's Topette. The winner was caught in 12.78 seconds while the second place horse hit the wire in 12.79 seconds, both Class B. Times.

The previous meet record for the seldom-run 220-yard distance was 13.34 set by Calvin Ladner's Doctor Moore on March 16.

League to hold team tryouts

Registration and tryouts for the Babe Ruth Baseball 16-18 boys representing Hancock County in the Gulf Coast Senior play this summer will be held at 1 p.m. Sunday at the Bay High diamond.

Player-agent Jim Thrifflay will conduct the tryouts. To be eligible to compete, you must be 16 years old before August 1 and must not make 19 before that date. Bay High Tigers split with East Central

The Bay High Tigers split a twinbill with East Central Monday afternoon in Bay St. Louis, winning the first game 11-5 but losing the nightcap 8-2.

In the first game, the Tigers used a 11-hit barrage to overcome a 5-1 second inning deficit. Bill Ginn went three-for-three in the game with a triple and two RBI's. Tim Favre, who came in the second inning to relieve starting pitcher Adrian Favre, held the Hornets in check the rest of the way as the Tigers scored three runs in the third and then took the lead with a four-run outburst in the fourth inning.

In the fourth, the Tigers used three singles, two walks, and two infield errors to take the lead. Bay High added two more runs in the fifth and another in the sixth to win easily.

Tim Favre was given the win, and Long was charged with the loss.

In the nightcap, however, it was another story as East Central romped to an 8-2 win. The Hornets used two walks, six errors, and just one hit to score six times in the second inning to run up an 8-0 lead which the Tigers were never able to overcome.

Tim Favre also pitched the second game for the Tigers, striking out four and walking three. Brian Martin got the win for the Hornets. He gave up two hits, fanned six, and walked none.

Bay High's season record is now 2-7, and they are 1-3 in district play.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE MISSISSIPPI GULF COAST

In Pass Christian we have a little company that I have just become associated with. I would like to tell you something about us.

The Waterways Company was founded in 1971 by Walter Todd, a very capable young man who exercised much courage, determination and integrity in forming a small business which will have a big impact on flood control and water transportation. He is now Chairman of our Board and is concentrating his energy as Vice President of Marketing.

We make pumps. That sounds rather prosaic BUT:

Our moveable drainage pumps are the biggest and most efficient moveable drainage pumps in the United States. They pump 150,000 gallons of water a minute. For example, in Pointe Coupee Parish in Louisiana, our pumps in 25 days lowered the water level on 84,000 acres by four feet.

I quote from a letter we received from a Major General in the Army Corps of Engineers: "Your help and the efficient operation of the pumps which you furnished were a tremendous contribution to the flood fight operation. I sincerely appreciate your cooperation during the flood."

We are helping to get people back into their homes and get seeds in the ground.

We build large, fixed, drainage pumps too. Some of these pumps are in use in Jefferson Parish, Louisiana, saving homes from flooding.

We like our pumps!

We also manufacture a unique bow steering unit for tows of barges. One of our units operates in Biloxi Back Bay. With our unit, barges don't knock down bridges, don't crash into each other and don't spill oil and chemicals in our rivers and lakes. Perhaps these units have prevented the loss of life. We have sold quite a few of these and will sell a lot more.

Our bow steering units are not only used on tows of barges. The lovely old sternwheeler, the Delta Queen, that plies the Mississippi River and the new sternwheeler, Natchez, that operates out of New Orleans are both controlled safely by our steering units.

We like our bow steering unit!

To the businessmen of the Coast I want to say that our policy is to seek out responsible and capable suppliers on the Coast, and there are a lot of you. If you are reliable, competitive and have a quality product or service in these fields: shipyards, machine shops, steel fabricator, shipyard supplies, industrial electrical supplies, industrial electronic supplies, hardware, diesel engines and marine gear, power transmission equipment, air compressors, pneumatics and hydraulic systems, auto parts supply, electrical instruments, freight handling, drafting and blue printing, printing, sheet metal work, and office supplies, please give me a call. I would like to chat with you.

To the workers of the Coast I want to say that our policy is to hire Coast residents whenever possible. We have no openings now, but if you are very competent and hardworking, and you work in one of the following fields: accounting, clerical, production engineering, design engineering, research and development, purchase specification engineering, maintenance engineering, marine mechanic, electronic technician, commercial marine sales and pump sales, please send us your resume. Who knows? Perhaps in the future, you will be on our team.

To the citizens of the Coast I want to promise you that we will always be a good corporate citizen. We will strive to create jobs. We will not pollute our waters or our air. We will pay our taxes and obey the law.

Directly south of the porch in front of our office, where I am writing this, is the east side of the Pass Christian Harbor. Beyond the Pass Christian Yacht Club there are two sailboats, to the west fishermen are tonging for oysters on the reef, a fish boat is leaving the harbor.

We love the Coast and we are here to stay.

Sincerely yours,

Byron W. Stinson
PRESIDENT AND CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

Pass Pirates edge Tigers, 4-2

Myron Cook hurled a three-hitter and the Pirates provided several timely hits Thursday afternoon as Pass High edged the Bay High Tigers 4-2 to win their first district 8-A game of the year.

The Pirates scored their first run of the game in the bottom of the first when Cook reached safely on an infield error and advanced to third on a single by Parker Duplessis.

Bay High's right fielder James Fine then robbed Paul Stewart of a homerun with a leaping catch at the fence, but Cook scored easily on the sacrifice fly.

The Pirates added another run in the third inning when Mark Jenkins doubled to left and scored on a Jack Ulrich single.

The Tigers battled back in the top of the fifth to tie the game when Bay High's Vernon Powell, slammed a double into left field scoring both Chris Johnson and Niles Blaize. Pinch runner substituted for Powell and promptly stole third base. The throw to third was high and Trelles tried for home but was called out at the plate on the throw from left field.

Pass High regained the lead with an unearned run in the bottom of the fifth. Jack Ulrich singled, and Tiger Pitcher Niles Blaize threw wildly to first on an attempted pickoff play, allowing Ulrich to advance to second. The error proved costly as Henry Malley followed with a single to center that made the score 3-2.

In the sixth the Pirates added another run when Parker Duplessis and Paul Stewart pounded back-to-back doubles to left center. The inning ended on a controversial double play when Stewart collided with Ricky Adams in an attempted double play breakup.

Cook allowed one Tiger base runner in the seventh before setting down the next three batters in order to stave off the Tigers hopes.

Cook (1-1) was credited with the win as he struck out four and walked five. Adrian Favre was charged with the loss. He walked three and fanned four in going the distance for the Tigers.

The game raised the Pirates' district record to 1-1. It was Bay High's first district game of the year.

Seems like things are getting better for fishing. Pearl River is falling. Waters are clearing and the tides are beginning to fall in the afternoons. Speckled trout and reds are being caught out in the marsh.

Flounders have been caught off the municipal pier. Sheldon Seuzenauer reported catching nice ones one day last week. The pier is proving a wonderful place for folks to fish and crab. No boat is needed.

Other fish that can be caught from the pier are speckles, red fish, croakers, ground mullets, etc. All are good seafood. Frozen shrimp and artificial baits are all that is needed to catch them.

The closing of the Bonnet Carré Spillway will help our section a lot.

Fresh water fishing is improving up Jourdan River, Bayou LaCroix and other inland streams and should be good for the rest of the summer.

Hard crabbing is also improving. They were caught down by Bayou Cadet the past week. This is another all summer deal plus soft crabs if they ever start giving.

Spearing flounders can be done during the warm months.

Bass and perch are now beginning to spawn. Fishing for them in local bayous with earth worms is paying off. A perch pole is an effective gear.

Flounders are being caught mostly by dragging on the bottom. Dead shrimp and live minnows are catching most of David Trelles, Bay High's pinch runner is tagged out just short of home plate in last Thursday's game against the Pass High Pirates. Trelles had stolen third and tried to score the go-ahead run when the ball got

Riels one-hits Bay

Paul Riels allowed just one hit and struck out 12 as the Stone Tomcats edged out the Bay High Tigers 3-1 in District 8-A action Saturday. Recording at least one strikeout each inning, Riels held the Tigers in check all afternoon with an overpowering fastball.

Stone scored the game's first run when David Stringfellow was hit by a pitch in the second and later scored on a ground ball single that eluded the outstretched glove of Tiger shortstop Arnold Fairconnetue.

Bay High tied the game 1-1 in the bottom of the third when Fairconnetue reached first on an infield error, stole second and third, and then scored on a long sacrifice fly to center by Niles Blaize, who got the only hit off Riels in the first inning.

In the fifth, Stone second baseman Taylor beat out an infield single, and Riels reached safely on an infield error to set up the eventual winning margin. Both runners advanced on a wild pickoff throw, and Stone catcher Ainsworth grounded a single to center that scored both winners.

Riels set down the Tigers the rest of the way, allowing just two base runners, both on walks. Ricky Adams, who went the distance for the Tigers, gave up three runs, one earned, on eight hits and two walks. He fanned two batters.

Bay High left five men on base, and Stone stranded seven. Both teams committed two errors.

The game raised Stone's season record to 10-0 and their district record to 3-0. Bay High fell to 0-2 in district play and 1-6 overall.

Poaching A Chicken

Most "leftover" chicken dishes taste better if they are made from poached chicken. If you have leftover roasted, broiled or fried chicken choose a leftover dish with a sauce or broth base.

Poaching chicken is easy. Simmer in water in a covered pot with a stalk of celery, an onion and a little salt until tender. Strain the broth and reserve it. Cut the chicken meat from the bones in generous slices. Any unused portion of the poached chicken may be stored in an air-tight container in the refrigerator or freezer for later use.
